Brandon S. O'Connor

Brandon S. O'Connor joined Sullivan Rogers & Feichtel in March of 2017, as the firm's law clerk. Now an attorney, Brandon looks forward to continuing to serve our long-standing clients and to building new relationships. In both his roles, Brandon has worked hands on with our clients and their needs, across all our practice areas. His practice focuses on estate planning, general and transactional business representation, civil litigation, and real estate and land use.

During his time at the Dickinson School of Law, Brandon served as a certified legal intern for Dickinson's Community Law Clinic. While at the clinic, he had the opportunity to develop his litigation skills by bringing cases before the Cumberland County Court of Common Pleas. He would later intern at the Court for President Judge, Edward Guido.

For his studies, Brandon received CALI Award distinctions in Electronic Evidence and Real Estate Negotiations and Drafting. In his final semester, Brandon was inducted to Dickinson's Woolsack Honor Society, reserved for students graduating in the top 15% of their class.

Brandon lives with his wife in York County.
